Program News

November 8 - Quilt show winners!

Chris Moore will be our guest vendor at the November meeting. He will be selling small Gingher scissors from 6:30 – 7:00 p.m. Chris is a friend of Marolyn Floyd, who learned early in her quilting career that Gingher scissors were at the top of the class in scissors. See page 3 for “More about Gingher”.

December 13 - Holiday Party and Ugly Sweaters

Chat with the President

Barb Saporito

Happy Fall and Happy Thanksgiving! Yes, it is getting to that time of the year to start thinking about the holidays.

I am currently in Lake Geneva, Wisconsin on my yearly Witches Quilting Retreat. Our weather was warm and sunny, until today. It is Wisconsin weather, cold and overcast. Good day to sit and sew! Yesterday, when it was warm and sunny, we went to a local quilt shop -- imagine that!! It was a wonderful shop with so many fabrics and quilts on every wall it was hard to decide which (ha ha) kit/fabric to purchase, I managed to find something!

By the time you read our Nov newsletter, the quilt show will be a day or 2 away. We have 87 quilts entered. I am sure the show will be beautiful, especially with all of our very talented quilters.

Are your placemats done? Please bring them to our Nov. guild meeting. We will be donating them to Meals on Wheels along with the ornaments that you have made. Also at our Nov guild meeting, we will have the election for our board. The slate of officers are posted in the Oct newsletter. We still have the opportunity for one of you to be in charge of getting a group together to plan our activities for 2022 (Vice President).

Have a Happy Turkey Day!

Barb

If you have finished any of your Breast Cancer Awareness projects, please bring them to the next meeting.

But even more important -- Please bring your placemats and your dollar bills!! We will vote on the placemats and the proceeds will go to Meals on Wheels, along with the placemats. We have always had a good turnout for this.

There will not be a Sit and Sew in November because of the quilt show and we'll probably not have one in December. We will address the issue of Sit and Sews at a later time to determine if you want to continue doing them.

More about Gingher

Gingher shears debuted in 1947 as a premier tool in the textile industry. Based in Greensboro, North Carolina, Gingher manufactures a range of products in categories like scissors and trimmers, embroidery, rotary cutter, quilting rulers, and other cutlery. By 1965, technology and top-notch engineering propelled these shears into an echelon of their own, with unsurpassed craftsmanship and quality. Today, Gingher continues in this tradition, offering the premier line of cutting implements in home sewing, crafts, needlework, and industry.

Chris' father was a foreman at Gingher for over 30 years and when he retired, he purchased scissors from Gingher. Among these are 7 different types of Gingher embroidery scissors as well as Gingher Buttonhole scissors. All scissors are brand new and never used.
